

General Information

For 51 years the annual Chief Residents Leadership Conference (the “Tarrytown” meeting) has been the premier leadership training experience for incoming chief residents. It provides an immersion in experiential exercises designed so participants gain personal awareness and develop strategies for resolving leadership dilemmas that they will confront during the upcoming academic year and throughout their careers.

Who Should Attend

In-coming Chief Residents and Fellows with leadership responsibilities.

Objectives

Attendees will gain personal knowledge and understanding about:

- Leadership skills
- Conflict resolution skills
- Group dynamics
- Their roles as middle managers within a residency training program
- The subtleties of the influence of diversity (race, gender, sexual identity, culture, etc.) on organizational systems

Residents will have an opportunity to learn about other residency programs, exchange ideas with peers, and network with colleagues from across the US and Canada.

Conference Dates

Friday, May 30 to Sunday, June 1, 2025

Early registration and check-in is available on Thursday, May 29, 2025.

Conference Site

The Conference is located at the IBM Louis V. Gerstner, Jr. Center for Learning in Armonk, NY and is easily accessed from all New York airports and major highways.

The IBM Louis V. Gerstner Jr. Center for Learning is located on 26 scenic acres in Westchester County. The Center's beautifully appointed guest rooms with serene views of the grounds are furnished with amenities to promote both relaxation and productive learning.

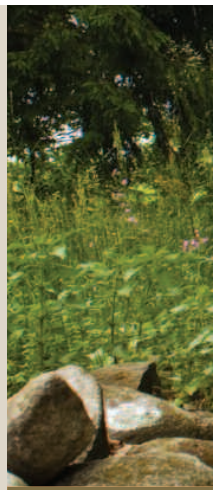

Creative, fresh and delightful cuisine is created by the Center's Executive Chef, with individual needs considered.

Recreational facilities, a fitness center, and comfortable lounges are available on site.

Here's what previous Chief Residents had to say:

“What an amazing concept! I've been to leadership conferences before, but I've always been a passive recipient of information. Here, we were receiving training without even realizing it – much more effective.”

“Unlike any other conference attended. Process feels incredible.”

“An unmatched experience. Very demanding but incredible and rewarding.”
