WELCOME TO DR. SERIFI ETI AND CASEY BROWDER

Welcome to Serife Eti, M.D., who has returned to Montefiore/Einstein to be the new Medical Director of our Palliative Care Program. Dr. Eti will replace Jim Fausto, who recently relocated to Seattle and the University of Washington, and will continue to build on the great work done by Jim and the Palliative Care team to grow and strengthen palliative care services across Montefiore. Serife received her MD degree and initial training in internal medicine and clinical pharmacology at the University of Istanbul in Turkey, and then after moving to the U.S. completed her family medicine residency at Montefiore in our own Residency Program in Social Medicine in 2003. She then completed a fellowship in palliative medicine at Montefiore, served for several years as an attending physician in our palliative care group, and was instrumental in developing and overseeing the creation of our inpatient Palliative Care Unit in Northwest 7 on the Moses Campus. Dr. Eti was recruited away in 2010 to become an attending physician and Fellowship Director in the Department of Pain Management and Palliative Care at Beth Israel Medical Center in Manhattan. She has been an active leader in the field of palliative care both locally and nationally, and we are very happy that we have now been able to bring her back to the Bronx to lead our palliative care program and help guide its further expansion in both inpatient and outpatient settings. Dr. Eti may be reached at the Palliative Care office at (718) 920-6378 or via email.seti@montefiore.org.

We are very excited to announce the hiring of a new PC/SM program manager Casey Browder! After completing her Masters in Health Administration at the University of South Carolina, Casey came to Montefiore and the Bronx for an administrative fellowship. She has greatly enjoyed her time working in the Bronx community and is very interested in getting more experience in medical education and helping us to connect with our community partners that help make our program so unique.

Angela Jeffers left some big shoes for Casey to fill, but starting to work with her, we are confident that she is going to be an excellent addition to our team!

Her office is on the 3rd floor of RPSM next to Josephine, Shwetha, and me. Casey can be reached either by phone at 718-920-2281 or, by email cbrowder@montefiore.org.

DFSM GRADUATION 2015

The Department of Family and Social Medicine Celebrated Their Graduation Ceremony on Saturday June 20, 2015 at the Davenport Club in New Rochelle, New York

RPSM Graduation Haiku 2015

*Clear hearts, open minds;
You came to the Bronx with love,
Hope, and commitment.*

*Time goes quickly here,
Just three turns round the sun,
And you're moving on.*

*Your orbits were quick,
But your legacy of care
Confirms you were here.*

*Without seeking fame,
Or making it about you,
You made a difference.*

*Your patients love you,
You have shown them what it means
To be well cared for.*

*Over three short years,
You grew into the healers
You were meant to be.*

*You have learned much here,
But you have also listened,
And served, and taught.*

*We are your teachers,
And now your colleagues, maybe
One day your patients.*

*We thank your families
For sharing you; you're always
Part of our family.*

*And though you're leaving,
Wherever you go, you're here;
You're always welcome.*

*So care for yourselves,
Just as you care for patients,
You deserve no less.*

*Be kind, be gentle,
Be strong, be safe; love well, and
Remember to breathe.*

Closing the Delivery Gap: Operationalizing the Care Delivery Value Chain for HIV/AIDS Care Quality Improvement in Togo, West Africa.

Summary: Significant gaps in transitions between care stages were elucidated in areas that would likely not have been identified through traditional assessment methods. Multiple areas of overlapping services by external providers highlighted inefficiencies in the overall delivery system and can inform future programmatic decisions. The operationalization of the CDVC with quality improvement initiatives affords a unique approach to improve care.

Marie Flores, MD, PhD, MPH

Differences in contraceptive use and unintended pregnancy among US-born and foreign-born Latina populations in New York City.

Summary: In NYC, among women giving birth to a singleton infant, U.S.-born Latina mothers were more likely to experience UIP and less likely to use a contraceptive method than foreign-born Latina mothers.

Jonathan Ross, MD

Clinical outcomes of undocumented immigrants with HIV infection in Bronx, NY

Summary: Compared to matched controls, undocumented immigrants presented with more advanced disease; however, among patients established in care, rates of retention in care and virologic suppression were better for undocumented immigrants than matched controls.

From Boosters to Books: Enhancing Emergent Literacy in the Medical Home.

Summary: This brief literacy promoting intervention significantly changed attitudes and practices toward reading and increased public library usage.

Kimberley Neroda, MD

Implementation of Opioid Overdose Prevention with Naloxone at CHCC

Summary: This project, a work in progress, seeks to increase availability of naloxone in the community by integrating the training of patients in naloxone use and dispensing it directly in clinic.

Young Men: Know Your Rights

Summary: In the future, providing quality health anticipatory guidance in a non-health care setting may be a feasible and encouraging way to reach these people who historically have poor health outcomes and low utilization of the health care system.

The Montefiore Health Opportunities Program (Monte H.O.P.) is a summer enrichment program for students interested in health careers that come from economically or educationally disadvantaged backgrounds. The program is also open to individuals typically considered underrepresented in the health care industry.

Created in 2002, Monte H.O.P. has graduated over 171 students with the goal to promote, educate and encourage these youth to pursue careers in health. Monte H.O.P. is one of a number of student programs teaching students about the healthcare industry and is also a partner program within the Bronx Science and Health Opportunities Partnership (BxSHOP).

Students accepted into the Monte H.O.P program gain valuable knowledge and professional skills through:

- Interactive-health related workshops (suturing, casting, anatomy lab, etc.)
- Visits to health-related organizations throughout New York City (ex: March of Dimes, WIC Centers, Morris Heights Birthing Center, NYC Department of Health, etc.)
- The observation of health care professional-patient interactions (medicine, nursing, physical therapy, etc.)
- Resources geared toward the continued development of professional skills (ex: resume writing, interview skills, health paper writing, project presentation, etc.)
- Health Equity and Prevention Primer modules meant to create young advocates looking to prevent health inequalities and pursue health and safety of all patients.

MONTEFIORE HEALTH OPPORTUNITIES PROGRAM (MONTE HOP) 2015

Suturing Workshop with Dr. Fabienne Daguilh

Splinting Working with
Dr. Rakhi Garg Sutaria and Dr. Se Won Lee

Mentor/Mentee Dinner

The Montefiore Health Opportunities Program (Monte HOP) is in its 13th year. Our interns are early educational students aspiring towards health professions. They participate in a myriad of activities, such as workshops, lectures, and shadowing. In addition, students are assigned mentors to help guide them throughout the program. We hope those relationships continue to flourish for many years to come.

Monte HOP students are greatly appreciative of the time that everyone is taking to share their in-sights with them. Our students were given the opportunity to have hands on experiences in the suturing workshop with Dr. Daguilh and the casting workshop with Dr. Rakhi Garg Sutaria and Dr. Se Won Lee.

The students were also able to engage in inspiring conversations with their mentors receiving words of wisdom at the Monte Hop Mentor Dinner as well as sharing future goals. In addition, students were enlightened about inspiring lectures and workshops. Here at Monte HOP, we also focus on the true experience of being a healthcare professional whereby students gain knowledge by shadowing various specialties in the clinical arena. Many students were exposed to anesthesiology, cardiac catheterizations, pediatrics medicine and physical therapy as well as many other sites. Some were able to see surgeries and even cesarean section births. Students have also participated in debates on euthanasia and legalizing the sale organs. We anticipate various tours to New York University's College of Dentistry, Montefiore's Virology Lab and The Human Bodies Exhibit. They are extremely thankful for this opportunity and are enthusiastic about weeks to come.

Every Friday, Pulse e-mails out a first-person story or poem about health care. These personal, compelling and authentic pieces are written by patients, healthcare professionals and students, providing a rare forum that welcomes everyone involved in health care. Pulse stories have been featured in the Washington Post, in NPR's health blog Shots and in KevinMD.com.

Dr. Donald Berwick, founder of the Institute for Healthcare Improvement, spoke for many when he said, "I not only read Pulse, I adore it... The supply of compelling, often poetic accounts is the best around."

Family medicine residents Masha Gervits and Sarah Stumbar have recently published stories in Pulse. To submit a story or to subscribe, visit pulsevoices.org.
