

From the OFFICE OF THE DEAN

Dear Einstein Community:

I am pleased to announce that Stacey Harris has been promoted to senior director of dean communications and student relations.

In this newly created position, part of the dean's executive leadership team, Stacey will serve as the chief communications advisor to the dean overseeing his internal and external communications and be the liaison with the Philip and Rita Rosen Department of Communications and Public Affairs. She will also be responsible for developing, implementing, and guiding communications plans that support student success initiatives working with the deans of student affairs, medical education, diversity and inclusion, as well as members of student government, councils, and organizations.

Since she joined Montefiore Einstein's department of medicine as communications director in January 2022, Stacey has expanded on the success of the departmental newsletter Progress Note, revamped the divisions' websites, and boosted the department's social media presence, including on twitter where followers increased by 30%. In addition, she was instrumental in creating the department's DEI newsletter, enCOMPASS, and DEI webpage.

Prior to joining Montefiore Einstein, Stacey was a communications and fundraising consultant where she worked with many clients, including NYU Langone Health, Mount Sinai, Cohen Veterans Bioscience, American Liver Foundation, and UN Women on communications and media relations strategy, writing, and alliance development.

Stacey has also held leadership positions at the American Federation for Aging Research, Children's Health Fund, Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center, and UNICEF.

She earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in literature from SUNY Oneonta.

Stacey's creativity, originality, and passion for her work are unparalleled, which has earned her the respect of those she has worked with—from division chiefs to executive leadership to clinical faculty at all levels.

Stacey has been a tremendous asset to the department, and to me. Please join me in congratulating her and wishing her all the best in her new role.

Warm Regards,

Yaron Tomer, M.D.
